PUBLISHED WEEKLY IN CANAL POINT BY PAUL RARDIN

CIRCULATING THROUGHOUT THE VAST AGRICULTURAL AREA OF PALM BEACH COUNTY

MECHANICAL BEAN PICKER WORKS

Beans are being harvested by a mechanical harvester on the farms operated by W. H. Vann, Inc., just north of Canal Point. These beans are taken to the Farmers Market in bulk in stake body trucks and put through a processing machine that washes and pre-cools them for shipment in refrigerator trucks to points as far away as Tennessee.

It looks like the day of the bean picker setting the picking price, is about a thing of the past in this the greatest winter bean growing area in the world. With mechanical harvesters there won't be any need for the thousands of bean pickers who earn hundreds of thousands of dollars weekly, turning that money loose in the stores here on Lake Okeechobee.

It didn't take many days of bean picking in the Glades to flood the market in the north and bring prices down to the place where the farmer can't make much profit. For several days the price ran wild—that is it went up as high as $5.75 per bushel hamper and then—boom. Down came the price.

You hear the cry on every hand that sugar cane is taking up nearly all the vegetable land on the shores of Lake Okeechobee. Let's look at the record and find out if that is a fact. Total shipments of vegetables through Monday of this week hit 1505 carloads. Turning back the record page to the same week last year we find the total carloadings amounted to 1323.

That should put a stop to some of the talk that sugar cane is taking up all of the vegetable land.

Beans, celery and corn are the delectable items on the list in large numbers so far this year. Of course, there are hundreds of cars of other leafy vegetables that tend to bring the total up each week when the items start to roll in volume.

Corn this week was hovering around the $3.00 mark with $2.85 being paid for most of it. Celery started on the north end this week with V-W Farms sending the first of their crop through Everglades Growers Cooperative pre-cooler at the Pahokee State Farmers Market.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Coburn

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Wetherington Funeral Chapel in Pahokee for Mrs. Clinton G. Coburn of Port Mayaca who died in her sleep Monday night at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Lawrence Stewart was in charge of the service. Interment will be made at Boston, Mass. and the remains were shipped Thursday by rail to that northern city.

Mr. Coburn was accompanied by plane Thursday to Boston by a nephew who arrived Tuesday night following her death Monday.

Mr. Coburn owned and operated the hardware store in Canal Point for many years before selling it to Harlan Sears.

THEY ARE THE DIRECTORS OF THE BANK OF BELLE GLADE

The new Bank of Belle Glade opened for business last Thursday, November 14, in a recently constructed new building and deposits for the first day went well over the million dollar mark—$1,225,000.00 to be exact.

tensive cane grower; James A. Ball, former packing house operator and now in real estate;

Robert D. Apperson, vice president of Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative Association; Robert Mathews, Belle Glade Attorney; Claude L. Shirley, Sr., active head of Shirley Brothers with plants in Pahokee and Belle Glade; George L. Royal, Jr., Glades merchant; Billy Rogers, president of South Bay Growers and E. B. McDaniel, Jr., president of the bank.

John Henry Logan, also a member of the board and a vice president of the Exchange National Bank in Tampa, was not present when the picture was taken.

The group represents a cross section of the finest folks that the Glades afford. They are young men with a wide range of experience in the Glades farming picture and all of them would be classed as progressive-conservatives when it comes to handling money and businesses in this fast growing section of western Palm Beach County.

A bright and rosy future has been predicted for the new bank and under the direction of the above group this newspaper would have to go along with that prognostication.

Bankers Sugar Cane Conference Is Set For December 11 At Elks Club, Pahokee

You are cordially invited to attend the Bankers Sugar Cane Conference being held on Wednesday, December 11, at the Elks Hall, Pahokee, Florida. This meeting is being sponsored by the Farm Committee of our Agriculture Division in conjunction with the Jacksonville Branch of the Federal Reserve Bank, Atlanta.

In recent years there has been a great expansion in the Florida sugar industry. The imports of sugar from Cuba have been cut off completely, and it is estimated that about $100 million has been invested in new mills and sugar cane plantings in the Glades area since our trouble with Cuba began. As the nation's sugar needs grow, so will this rapidly expanding Florida industry. How will this expansion affect Florida's economy? What about financing? What is the outlook? These are a few of the problems which will be discussed at this meeting of bankers, growers, and others interested in the future of sugar cane.

The Conference will begin at 12:00 noon with a Bar-B-Que luncheon which will be followed by a very interesting and informative program. We hope that you can arrange to be present. If you plan to attend, please call Rupert Mock, who is the Chairman of our Farm Committee.

Mrs. Martha McIntosh was the recent guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Stubbs and daughters in Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McCall recently visited relatives in Lakeland. They were accompanied home by his Uncle, Arch McCall of Rochelle, Georgia.

LaWayne Rawles of Orlando visited friends in Belle Glade and Pahokee over the weekend. Mr. Rawles is a former resident of this area.

Ft. Pierce Tonite And Belle Glade There Wednesday

The scrappy eleven from Fort Pierce will meet the Pahokee Blue Devils tonight (Friday) on the local gridiron and the traditional game next Wednesday night (Thanksgiving eve) in Belle Glade will close the season for the Pahokee eleven.

Last Friday night the Blue Devils trounced the Palm Beach High squad 20 to 7.

Palm Beach Post Sports Editor Bob Balfe had a few choice words to say about Harold Peacock of the Pahokee eleven. Part of what he had to say is reprinted herewith:

"Harold Peacock gave a dazzling second-half performance as Pahokee's take-charge-guy to lead the Everglades Blue Devils to a comeback behind 20-7 victory over Palm Beach High in a Suncoast Conference game at Cooley Stadium Friday night.

"Peacock, the conference's leading point-maker, overcame a 7-0 Palm Beach halftime lead with almost virtual monopoly of the ball-carrying, setting up one score and making two others himself.

"He carried the ball 28 times in all, for 156 of the 171 yards the Blue Devils rushed from scrimmage, and he mixed in a few short passes, one for a TD and two others for conversions."

A&P Store Coming To Pahokee May 1

Keen Real Estate in Canal Point said this week that papers have been signed and contracts consummated whereby the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company will open a new super market in Pahokee around May 1, 1964.

Construction of the building will be Colonial style as is being used by the Tea Company in their stores lately in Florida. It will be located on the lot in Pahokee between the new Gulf Station and the old Shell Station now used as a used car lot. The store will contain 11,000 square feet of floor space for the market. It is expected that construction will start around the first of the new year—1964.

Mr. and Mrs. Keen said that the A&P Store will be part of a shopping center but names of the other stores will not be made public for several months.

SURPRISE PARTY

Mrs. Pearl Kinsey of Lake Worth, who was observing her 77th birthday Sunday, was given a surprise party that afternoon by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kolstad and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Reeves all of Pahokee, and Mrs. Bill Cook of Jacksonville.

THE FARM FRONT

BY DOYLE CONNER
COMMISSIONER
FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

I was looking over recently the latest issue of "What's Ahead in Farming" (1963-64), presenting reports of conditions in their areas by the 10 regional editors of Farm Journal. In it you'll find a pretty informative rundown of the agricultural situation in every part of the nation.

Except for some areas hit by last winter's rough winter weather, and this year's drought conditions in other parts of the country, there's a tone of general optimism in the overall outlook.

In our lower South region—Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi—an upward trend in farm implement sales emphasizes the new prosperity that farmers are enjoying. The same is true in many other parts of the country. Farmers are buying larger, more powerful equipment.

All across the lower southern states, and especially in the Mississippi Delta area, 4, 6 and even 8-row planters and tillage equipment account for the biggest percentage of dealers' sales.

There's concern about a labor shortage in the area in coming years. The report states: "New factories, mills and other industries are draining off almost all intelligent, dependable labor."

Stressed is the situation in Georgia where "in the past 10 years the farm labor force has dropped 55 per cent while capital investments (in farms) increased 86 per cent." During this same period, the number of farms producing about $5,000 doubled, and those grossing over $10,000 nearly tripled.

I've commented previously on some large-scale cattle feeding operations coming into the Florida picture this year. We'll have to go some in this state, however, to equal the 100,000-head-yearly program reported in the planning stage for a location near Montgomery, Alabama.

Out in the western Inter-Mountain states, cattlemen are expecting the market to improve next Spring but many believe it may turn down again next Fall, perhaps to a low of $22 a hundred weight for choice grades.

Out in the Pacific Northwest, wheat farmers have been pouring on fertilizer as never before and the fertilizer business is booming. In the Seattle area six new dry fertilizer mixing plants were noted in a six-month period this year and in Eastern Washington at least another half dozen have been built.

A new wheat variety—Gaines—shorter than standard varieties and resistant to many diseases, is giving Pacific Northwest growers yields of 100 bushels an acre on dry land, 150 bushels in some cases under irrigation.

And Washington apple growers are rushing into dwarf, or under-size, trees as fast as they can after playing around with them for the past three years or so.

From the Pacific Southwest it's reported "the safflower bubble has burst." A Yuma county, Arizona farmer is quoted: "We're disgusted with it," and a Phoenix banker admitted: "Nobody is talking about it anymore." Poor yields and price difficulties are said to be the reasons.

Tomato growers are showing "tremendous renewed interest" in mechanical harvesting. And of the sugar industry it is reported: "Sugar company officials will need to carry sticks next year to fend off farmers who'll want to contract to grow sugar beets."

In the Southwest, Texas cattlemen are troubled by high costs of keeping a cow ($75 to $95 a year) and the high investment required per cow ($600 to $1,200 on the range.) So they're beginning to take more interest in the possibilities of drylots for beef cows.

In the Upper South—the two Carolinas, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee — tobacco growing is "moving slowly but surely toward complete mechanization of harvesting and curing." In the region, also, the hottest development in dairying is loafing stalls for cows. "You have to see it to believe it."

Concerning future trends in national farm policy, the Farm Journal makes this comment: "Actually, the main goals of agriculture in the field of farm policy may well be to use the political processes to help it make the kind of sound, desirable — and often painful — adjustments that will, in the end, leave it a stronger industry in a stronger nation."

"What farmers want is temporary therapy to help overcome the pain of adjustment — not commitment forevermore to bureaucratic controls.

"To get this done, farmers will need to realize that, although they are a major economic factor, they now are a political minority and the tactics of such are quite different from those employed by a major political group."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maxson and Miss Betty Johnson were recent visitors in Miami.

JOINS FRATERNITY

Bill Maxson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Maxson, has pledged Phi Gamma Phi Fraternity at Emory and Henry College. Mr. Maxson is a sophomore at the college majoring in mathematics.

Mr. and Mrs. Minter Collins had as their guests recently her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Farr and son of Miami.

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with

Campsites By FCD In Three Counties

New power has been given to the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission to regulate the building of campsites in and around Water Conservation Areas in Palm Beach, Broward and Dade Counties.

The action was taken late Friday at a joint meeting of the Governing Board of the 18-county Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District and the Game Commission held at FCD headquarters in West Palm Beach.

It was the first meeting held between the governing bodies of the two state agencies in many years. The FCD Board voted unanimously to give additional authority to the Game Commission to control present and future campsites erected in Conservation Areas 2 and 3 which cover 1,124 square miles in the interior of the three southeastern counties.

Effective immediately, no person will be permitted to build any camp in the Conservation Areas without a permit from the Game Commission. Moreover, new camps will be permitted only in certain areas which will be designated.

All persons having present camps or seeking to build new ones in the Conservation Areas must apply for permit from the Game Commission.

The Game Commission manages wildlife in Conservation Areas 2 and 3 under a license agreement granted by the FCD in 1953.

The motion Friday to extend the authority granted in the 1963 agreement was made by Robert L. Searle, FCD Board member from Dade County, and seconded by Robert R. (Jack) Horner of Palm Beach, Vice Chairman of the FCD Board.

"Camping is a very significant part of public recreation on a nationwide basis," said Jack Horner. He predicted that issuance of permits for campsites in the future will open up a new type of recreational activity in FCD areas.

Ed Madill, chairman of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, said there are about 40 camps in Conservation Areas 2 and 3 at the present time.

Madill stressed that the permits to be issued to present and future camps will not be transferable from one person to another, and they will be issued on an annual basis.

Tom McBroom, member of the Game Commission from Miami, said that the present 40 camps do not currently present a serious problem from the standpoint of law enforcement or game management, but that it will be necessary to limit future campsites to selected areas.

Present camps will be allowed to remain where they are if necessary permits are obtained.

Louis F. Gainey, regional manager for the Game Commission in southeastern Florida, said persons seeking permits should apply at Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission headquarters, 551 N. Military Trail, West Palm Beach.

Ed Dail, Executive Director of the Flood Control District, said that four areas for future campsites have been recommended by the Palm Beach and Broward Counties Recreational Development Committee — an advisory group to the FCD.

(1) On the east side of the Miami Canal, in northwest Broward County, near FCD Pumping Station 8, in the northern part of Conservation Area 3.

(2) At the junction of the Miami and South New River Canals, about 25 miles west of the Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood area, inside Conservation Area 3.

(3) In the western corner of Conservation Area 2, in Broward County south of the Palm Beach County line, near FCD Pumping Station 7. This area is east of U. S. Highway 27.

(4) On the eastern side of Conservation Area 2, near Levee 36, about five miles south of the Loxahatchee Recreation Area and the Hillsboro Canal. This is about 15 miles west of Pompano Beach.

Tom McBroom of the Game

Commission suggested another possible alternative campsite area along FCD Levee 67-A west-northwest of Miami. He pointed out that this area could be reached easily by campers from the Tamiami Trail (U. S. Highway 41), about a 35-mile drive from Miami.

McBroom suggested that the Game Commission and the FCD Board hold joint meetings perhaps twice a year in the future. There was general agreement with this idea.

Public Relations Men Named To FR Hall Of Fame

JACKSONVILLE—Two of Florida's pioneer developers have been named to the Public Relations Hall of Fame.

The Florida Public Relations Association Hall of Fame Commission announced that the late George E. Merrick, founder of Coral Gables, and Earl W. Brown of DeLand, who promoted the state of Florida at the first New York World's Fair and the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition, will be the 12th and 13th men honored in the Hall of Fame.

The Hall of Fame, which was established by the Florida Public Relations Association, is located in the Florida State Chamber of Commerce headquarters in Jacksonville. Illuminated photographs of Merrick and Brown will be placed in the display during official ceremonies.

Meanwhile, the widow of the deceased Merrick and Brown will be honored at the 25th annual convention of FPRA at Winter Haven, Dec. 6. Brown and Mrs. Merrick will receive mounted scrolls.

Other members of the Hall of Fame selected in the past are: John T. Alsop, former mayor of Jacksonville; former Gov. LeRoy Collins; Harold Cole, executive vice president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce; William M. Davidson and Walter Carl Ray, developers of Florida's Silver Springs; Florida developer Henry M. Flagler; Miami Beach developer Carl G. Fisher; Miami Beach publicist Steve Hannegan; former Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo; John Ringling North of circus fame, and Richard D. Pope, Sr., developer of Cypress Gardens.

Patterson Circle In Monday Meeting

The Ione Patterson circle of the Canal Point Baptist Church met Monday at the home of Mrs. Frank O'Connell. Mrs. F. M. George was in charge of the program, "The Life of Bill Wallace." Mrs. C. B. Jones led the devotional.

Plans were made for a study class to be held on December the 3rd with Mrs. Hal Hunter of Northwood Baptist church West Palm Beach teaching the book, "Mandelbaum Gate." The Week of prayer will be held December 9th thru 13th.

Preparations are underway to distribute gift baskets to shut-ins for Thanksgiving. The baskets will be delivered by the Sunbeams.

Dr. Carl M. Bair, Jr., Not A Candidate

Rumors that Dr. Carl M. Bair, Jr., CTA Executive Secretary is being considered as Acting Superintendent should Howell L. Watkins actually resign have been widespread for some time. His statement concerning these rumors is as follows:

"I am not interested in this or any other position. Bluntly, I do not want to be Superintendent of the Palm Beach County Schools. Furthermore, I will not be a candidate for the post in next year's election.

"Obviously, since I am a resident of Palm Beach County and am thoroughly dedicated to high quality educational opportunities for our youth, I will continue to help this cause through whatever means are available to me.

"While personal considerations outweigh all others, it should be observed that were I responsible for the schools the changes which I feel to be necessary are of such magnitude as to require general public support, unanimous Board of Public Instruction backing and assistance from all news media. Under the current circumstances this would appear to be almost impossible.

"Palm Beach County's children deserve more than I believe I can provide under the present conditions; hence, I feel their interests can best be served by someone else."

Tax Collections In State Running Above Average

Florida state and local governments together collected $1,375,600,000 in taxes and fees during the fiscal year 1962, a 9 per cent gain over the previous year compared with a 7 per cent increase throughout the nation, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday in its Weekly Business Review.

"Collections of taxes, fees and licenses by any agency of the state and by all counties, districts and cities are included in this figure," the Review pointed out. "Only by lumping state and all local collections together can state by state comparisons be made because of differences in tax structures. Measured in this way, Florida's total was the tenth largest among the 50 states.

"Although state and local totals were greater in nine states other than Florida, 27 states had higher taxes than Florida on a per capita basis. By dividing collections by population, the average for each Florida resident was $253 last year. This figure was 5 per cent more than in 1961 compared with a national gain of 6 per cent.

"Not included in the Florida total was a sum of $165,800,000 returned by the federal government to state and local agencies for expenditures through them. (This is in addition to direct federal spending on rivers, harbors, military establishments and the like in Florida.)

"State-local expenditures in Florida last year, including both their own collections and federal funds, amounted to $1,536,000,000, a gain of 3 per cent over the previous year while the nationwide figure increased 6 per cent. A small portion of collections in Florida were invested, making the expenditure total slightly less than the combined receipts total in the state.

"Debt outstanding in mid-1962 came to $2,060,700,000 for state and local governments in Florida combined, up 10 per cent. The nationwide gain was 8 per cent. Cash and security holdings in trust in Florida totaled $1,379,800,000, up 15 per cent while the comparable national figure moved up 9 per cent."

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to $2\frac{1}{2}\%$ for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra $\frac{1}{4}\%$ from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic $\frac{1}{4}\%$ increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

Christian Science Group Of Canal Point

"Soul and Body" will be the subject of the Bible Lesson to be read at all Christian Science services this Sunday.
The Scriptural readings include a verse from Psalms (27:14): "Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the Lord."
The following passage will be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Mind, which forms the bud and blossom, will care for the human body, even as it clothes the lily; but let no mortal interfere with God's government by thrusting in the laws of erring human concepts." (p. 62).

Movie To Feature Dixie Lily Ranch

WILLISTON—Hunters throughout the nation soon will be seeing a technicolor movie featuring hunting at the Williston Dixie Lily ranch, recently opened to the general public on a fee basis.

"The Hollywood boys picked our ranch as the tops in facilities and game from over 2,000 hunting preserves throughout the United States," said Dixie Lily Ranch President Cecil M. Webb, "and we feel it is a tribute not only to our shooting preserve but to southern hunting in general."

"The Remington Arms people commissioned Columbia Pictures to make the film with only two specifications: they wanted to portray the best preserve hunting in the nation and they wanted the narration done by the nation's number one sports caster, Bill Stern. We were, of course, highly flattered when they picked the Dixie Lily spread."

Webb, a former member and chairman of Florida's Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission established the first hunting preserve in Florida, and one of the first in the entire nation, a number of years ago. He operated it as a strictly private preserve until last year when he opened it to the general public on a fee basis.

Situated in the rolling lands of central Florida near Williston, the ranch has always offered a triple-barreled attraction, with duck, turkey and quail on hand during the hunting season. Established from the beginning to accommodate almost any size crowd, the ranch at present has seven full-time guides each with a brand new jeep, and what is commonly regarded as the best kennel of dogs in the South. The film featuring the ranch is titled, "Hunting Unlimited" and is scheduled for immediate distribution throughout the country.

Western Union Ups Their Rates

TALLAHASSEE — Telegraph charges between points in Florida increased about 10 per cent effective last Friday, the State Utilities Commission announced yesterday. The hike, authorized by the commission in an oral order issued in Jacksonville on Oct. 25, adds from 10 to 15 cents to the cost of a 15-word full-rate wire within the state.

Citing operating losses in Florida, Western Union attributed them to increased wages, inroads of government-subsidized air mail services and competition from the telephone which recently inaugurated lower rates for night calls.

Even with the new increases, the utilities commission said, the company will lose about $116,238 a year in Florida.

The rates are identical to interstate rate increases granted previously for wires between Florida and other states.

They add 10 per cent to the basic zone rates and additional word rates on full rate telegrams, night letters, day letters and money order messages and 8 per cent to quotation service and sports service.

Under the new rates, a 15-word wire between Daytona Beach and Fort Myers, Daytona, and Jacksonville and Fort Myers and St. Petersburg will cost an additional 10 cents. Telegrams between Daytona and Miami, Tallahassee and Miami and St. Petersburg and Tallahassee will cost an additional 15 cents.

Ernest Boland Is Scout Worker In Ga. Home Town

Ernest Boland, former Pahokee resident, now living in Athens, Ga., where he is President of Boland Bonded Pest Control, Inc. and Boland Bonded Waterproofing Company, recently was headlined in the Troop Newspaper in Athens. He has been Scoutmaster of Troop 24 there for the past 16 years except for a short time in 1961 and 1962.

Parts of the article reprinted below will be of interest to folks in the Glades because Ernest's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Boland live in Pahokee on Bacom Point Road.

"Ernest has been a scout for 27 years. When he was 12 he became a member of Troop 24 in Birmingham, Alabama. After three years he became a member of Troop 24 in Pahokee, Florida, where he was for eight years.

"He is an Eagle Scout, a member of the Order of the Arrow, and has received the Scout's Key, Arrowhead Honor Award, and the Silver Beaver, which is the highest award given to a Scout Leader.

"In 1951 Ernest graduated from the University of Georgia with a B. S. degree in Entomology. Ernest served in the U. S. Army from June 3, 1942 until March 6, 1946 and was discharged with the rank of Captain. He is now in the Reserves."

Unique Study To Tell Of Unfrozen Ready-To-Eat Food

The State Board of Health has just begun a unique study in unfrozen ready-to-eat food sanitation processes which could be used throughout the United States to reduce possibilities of food poisoning.

The three-year research will center among a limited number of Duval County food processing concerns which produce approximately 4,000,000 pounds of mayonnaise-type foods annually.

Dr. Nathan J. Schneider, director of the board's Bureau of Laboratories, and A. W. Morrison, Jr., director of the board's Division of Sanitation, will be in charge of the project with the assistance of Dr. E. R. Smith, Jacksonville city health officer. It is sponsored by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Schneider said "Foods which are heat treated after packaging are as nearly germ-free as is possible but this may not necessarily be true of foods not subject to final heat treatment."

"These ready-to-eat foods such as salads, spreads, dips, sandwich fillings and similar items contain various combinations of highly perishable ingredients, many of which can support rapid growth of bacteria which may cause various types of food poisoning."

"Some of the ingredients are prepared raw and so any combination could be carried over into the finished products. Others, although heated to temperatures approaching sterility, are handled after cooking and thus are subject to contamination. There is rarely an attempt to sterilize or pasteurize these foods in their final combined forms. In all instances, a significant period of time elapses between processing and use by the consumer."
